

Zurich. »nacworld«, the social networking website of the New Apostolic Church will become available for all age groups on 20 May 2010. An optimized design and additional features will also be introduced. With the removal of age restrictions, the service becomes usable for children, young adults, middle-aged adults, and seniors from all over the world.

»nacworld« will also introduce a more user-friendly layout and easier-to-use menus. New features include a birthday list of contacts, a more extensive search function for groups and members, individual preferences for viewing pages, optimized privacy functions, and more. Forums and blogs are now categorized separately, making it easier to find entries related to a certain topic.

Additional Information

»nacworld« is the social networking website of the New Apostolic Church International, and enables Christians from all over the world to come into contact. It is geared towards members of the New Apostolic Church. Members of other churches or religious communities are also welcome to join. Membership is open to all who are interested.

Initially supported by the EJT gGmbH, sponsorship for »nacworld« will be assumed by the New Apostolic Church International on 20 May 2010. Compared to for-profit competitors, nacworld does not provide unsolicited advertising, charge membership fees, or share personal data or addresses with third parties.
